

	CONF 101: Intro	CONF 210: Theories	CONF 300: Practices	CONF 301: Research	CONF 302: Identity	CONF 320: Interpersonal	CONF 330: Community	CONF 340: International	CONF 490: Integration
Learning Outcome 1: Theories Students will demonstrate the ability to evaluate, interpret, judge, and apply conflict theories with a fluency, understanding, and comprehension.	1, A1	1, A1, PR	1		2, A2	2	2	2	3, A3
Learning Outcome 2: Practices Students will demonstrate the ability to explain, reflect, and compare and contrast a range of conflict resolution practices.	1		2, A2, PR			2	2	2
Learning Outcome 3: Research Methods Students will demonstrate an understanding and application of research methods, models and skills, for the purpose of producing knowledge of conflicts and their resolution.				1, A1, PR					2, A2, PR
Learning Outcome 4: Written Communication Competence in written communication includes an understanding of audience, purpose, and content; as demonstrated through the appropriate use of a) format, tone and vocabulary b) organization of argument or information c) evidence from experience, observation, and/or primary and secondary sources d) standard edited American English	1	1		2	2, A2	2	2	2	3, A3, PR
Program Outcome: Students will demonstrate the ability to integrate and reflect on central theories, research methods, and practices in conflict analysis and resolution to prepare for application to their future career.

Codes

Teaching Level

- 1= Intro level
- 2= Intermediate level
- 3= Advanced level

In-Class Assessment

- A1= Assess intro level
- A2= Assess intermediate level
- A3= Assess advanced level

Program Review

- PR = Program Review Assessment